Third Edition. 5 O'Clock. YELLOW FEVER.

Five New Cases and One Death Reported at Memphis To-day.

Condition of the Sick—The Weather Warm and Sultry.

FIVE NEW CASES. Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 4.—Five new cases were reported to the board of health this morning.

ONE DEATH. One death occurred, Joseph Downey.

WORSER. Rev. Father Doyle was reported worse this morning.

IMPROVING. Father Fahy continues to improve.

ASSUMED CONTROL. Rev. Father William Walsh, who arrived yesterday from New York, has assumed control of Camp Father Matthew, and has begun active work.

THE WEATHER. Weather very warm and sultry.

YELLOW FEVER AT BOSTON. Boston, Aug. 4.—The first Stephen Bishop, from Bogus La Grand, is detained at quarantine, having yellow fever on board. When the ship left...

the mate died, and subsequently the disease broke out among the crew.

THE PLAGUE AT ST. LOUIS. St. Louis, Aug. 4.—Health Commissioner Francis issued a special order this morning to the quarantine officers to hereafter stop at that station every steamer from ports below Cairo, and report each arrival to him, and to release no vessel except upon his order.

No new cases of yellow fever are developed at quarantine, nor are there any suspicious cases known to be in the city.

THE HEAT. The weather getting excessively warm again, and several mild cases of sunstroke occurred yesterday and today. The mercury reached 96 yesterday, and at 2 o'clock to-day ranged from 94 to 98 on the principal business streets.

CRIME AND CASUALTY.

The Town of Volcano, W. V., Entirely Destroyed By Fire.

Attempted Murder of the Collector of Customs at New Orleans.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 4.—A fire broke out in Valcena, a town of 2,000 inhabitants, in Wood county, this state, early this morning and is still raging fiercely. Half the town is in ashes now, and the flames will probably not be stayed until there is nothing for them to feed on as there is no water to be had in anything like sufficient quantity to quench an ordinary fire. At the present writing cell the stores, hotels, warehouses, the telegraph office and depot are destroyed. Among the stores burned are those of Graham, Smith & Co., Jackson & Gould, Samuel Thompson Jackson, W. C. Stiles, Jr., J. McGill, the post office and store, and A. Shufelt's establishment. Several of these houses carry very stocks of goods. Many of the warehouses are stored with oil, for every building in the town is frame and it is almost a certainty that the entire town will be destroyed. It is estimated that the loss will be fully $100,000 and probably more. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

ATTEMPTED MURDER.

New Orleans, Aug. 4.—An Gen. Badger, to-day, was ascending the stairway from the lower floor to the main office of the custom house, he was suddenly met by Wm. Brown, an ex-metropolitan policeman, who with the remark, "I've got you now," drew a revolver and fired at the head of the collector. Gen. Badger, on seeing Brown's movements, caught his arm and diverted the shot over his shoulder. Gen. Badger then took the pistol away from Brown and threw it below. Brown lost a leg on the 14th of September, 1874, under Gen. Badger, and was among Badger's first appointees as postmaster. Becoming collector, Gen. Badger left Brown in the postoffice, where he failed to remain. The collector thinks Brown was crazed by poverty to attempt the murder, and seems unwilling to prosecute. Brown thinks the general should have given him a place in the custom house.

BROWNING ACCIDENTS.

San Francisco, August 4.—Geo. P. Rogers, clerk in a Front street house, and Walter Skier, clerk in the custom house, were drowned by the upsetting of a boat while fishing in Lake San Andreas yesterday.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 4.—A Pioneer Press special says that three persons, John Thomas, Mary Hanson, and an Italian musician named Frank DuLucia were drowned in the Mississippi above Lacrosse last night. They were part of a picnic party from Lacrosse in three boats. One boat, containing six persons, upset in passing the dike and the above named persons were drowned.

RAIL REDUCED.

Boston, Aug. 4.—The fall of Prescott G. Pillsbury, the defaulting cashier of the Lawrence National Bank, has been reduced from $25,000 to $20,000. Counsel for Pillsbury said he would stand trial and cheerfully suffer any penalty.

LABOR TROUBLES.

The Situation Among the Striking Spinners at Fall River.

Fall River, Mass., Aug. 4.—It is reported that the spinners voted not to furnish bail for the strikers arrested for intimidation, and also that they voted to petition the second hands in the mills to cease work, and the report is that forty-four second hands in this city have expressed their willingness to quit work. It is further stated that a mass meeting will be held in the park next week to express their indignation at Mayor Lindsay's action in interviewing Gov. Talbot.

Marine.

Quebec, Aug. 4.—The passengers and mails of the steamship City of Richmond will be forwarded by the City of Chester.

New York, Aug. 4.—The steamship Lizzie, which left Bridgehampton, 1:30 p.m. and returned here. Arrived City of Richmond from New York.

CABLEGRAMS.

A Destructive Storm Sweeps Over Great Britain.

Great Damage to Crops by Rain, Hail and Lightning.

London, Aug. 4.—The severest storm for many years raged Saturday night. The storm was attended by a fall of hail stones some five inches in circumference. The damage to glass around London amounts to a thousand pounds sterling.

In the greater part of Bedfordshire the hay crop is completely swept away and many cattle are drowned.

Newmarket and neighborhood are flooded.

The rain fall in Buckinghamshire is estimated at seventy tons per acre.

Damages by flood and lightning are also reported from Cambridge, Norfolk, Guilford, Leicester, Bath and Monmouth.

The storm was terribly severe in the valley of the Thames. The damage done by hail and rain is irreparable this season. The loss of live stock is serious.

Vote for water works.

Adirondack Murray's Whereabouts.

Binghamton, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Two weeks ago Rev. W. H. Murray came to this city and crossed the lake to Plattsburg. While there his yacht here was attached for debt, in response to a telegram which came from Plattsburg. Murray had gone to Chicago. His female secretary, who accompanied him to Plattsburg, returned here and attended to legal matters.

Deaths in New York.

New York, Aug. 4.—Over twenty deaths have been reported at the coroner's office to-day. The deaths are doubtless caused by the extreme heat.

Meteorological.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Indications: For Ohio valley, warm easterly to southerly winds, slowly falling barometer, increasing cloudiness and showers of rain, with slight changes of temperature. For Lake region, fairly cloudy weather, slowly falling barometer, variable winds, mostly from south to east, nearly stationary temperature.

LATE CITY NEWS.

THE RAILROADS.

P. S. O'Rourke is out of town.

The wheat "boom" continues on the Wabash.

The Wabash sent 865 loaded cars east from here on Saturday.

Engine No. 62, on the Wabash, pulls forty-six loaded cars from here to Toledo.

Wabash passenger engine No. 46, came into the shops this morning for repairs.

Samuel Hoyt, the great mogul of the lightning jokers at Crestline, is in the city.

George Welch, for many years an engineer on the Wabash, died at Toledo on Saturday.

Edwin Evans will leave for the south in the latter part of the week to look up the interest of the narrow gauge.

No. 3 on the Pittsburgh this morning ran in two sections, carrying in all 460 passengers, including three cars of soldiers for Gen. Miles' command.

By change of time on the Muncie road, taking effect yesterday, the Indianapolis express leaves here at 6:40 p. m., instead of 1:20 p. m., as heretofore.

A heavy storm prevailed north of here last night, interrupting telegraphic communications on the Grand Rapids road. Extensive fires are also reported from Howard City.

The Wabash excursion to Lafayette yesterday was a success. About forty passengers left from here, and the crowd was augmented to seven cars loaded chock full before reaching Lafayette.

A collision between two freight trains on the Wabash Railway took place last night between 9 and 10 o'clock, near Danville. A switch engine, No. 111, was badly demolished and engine No. 123 was also damaged. About a dozen draw-bars were rendered unfit for service. Nobody seriously hurt.

General Passenger Agent Townsend, of the Wabash Railway, has just issued a very tasteful little book containing a collection of views in and about Put-in-Bay, finished in the "art-type" process. They are designed for use along the Wabash for the benefit of their numerous excursion parties, and are a very attractive and creditable piece of enterprise.

The managers of the trunk lines have recognized the claim of the Wabash Company to a share of the traffic to the Pacific coast. The decision of the company to insist upon it excited interest among the trunk line representatives, and after informal discussion, the claim was granted. No diversion of the freight will be made by the trunk lines in favor of the Chicago railroad, which heretofore have had a monopoly of the business. They agreed on the contrary that they would split the Wabash road and any through freight destined by that route. The Wabash Company will receive, it is understood, thirty-five percent of the rate from New York to St. Louis. The present rates to California, which now are about six dollars on a ton, will be maintained. This recognition of the Wabash road by the trunk lines is expected to add still greater bitterness to the present contest between the St. Louis and Chicago roads.

JACKSON VS. JACKSON.

Another Unhappy Husband Asks for Legal Relief.

Wm. Jackson is tired of this sort of thing. He married Anna E. in Boston on the 18th of June, 1877, and since that time he has acted always on the square, but Anna would raise thunder, and on the 29th of January, 1878, she belted William on the ear and abandoned him, and is now living in Lewistown, Me. William therefore wants a divorce.

Religious.

Communion services were held at the Cathedral yesterday morning.

The Young Men's Sodality and the Father Matthew Society partook in a body. Father Brammer preached an able discourse, especially to young people.

The sacrament was administered at the Baptist Church yesterday. There was a large congregation and Dr. Stone's sermon was a very able one.

Dr. Crum, of Ligonier, filled the pulpit at the Church of God yesterday.

The German Lutheran synod will meet at St. Paul's Church on Wednesday morning. President Schwan, of Cleveland, will preside.

The Woman's Temperance Union held their regular Sunday afternoon exercises at the court house park.

The reformed men held a meeting at their chapel yesterday afternoon.

Services were held yesterday afternoon and evening in the Wayne Street A. M. E. Church.

The First Presbyterian and Plymouth Churches were not open yesterday.

Good Company.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL:

As a friend of water works, I am proud of the company in which I find myself upon this question. It is noticeable that the best elements of our community, the most enterprising and liberal of our citizens, are almost solid for this great public improvement.

If I were an enemy of water works, I should not be proud of the crowd with whom I would have to train. Were I upon the fence in this question, or puzzled which way I really ought to vote, the striking contrast between the friends and opponents of this measure would soon settle the matter in favor of the works.

EIGHTH WARD.

A Prediction.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL: Mark my prediction: The tax payer who votes against city water works, to escape the slight additional taxation which the building of the works will cause for the next few years, will find himself, provided water works are defeated, shortly taxed still heavier by a private water works company, which is sure to be formed if they do not build them. And he will be just this much better off; that, whereas, city water works will soon return income enough to pay the interest on the cost of their construction, private water works will year by year grow to be a heavier burden upon him. D. N. F.

Yes, They Will.

(Adams County Union.)

The Fort Wayne papers will call off on the "water works" question before entering the torrid campaign of 1880.

Ernest Stanley, assistant manager of Emerson's Megatherian minstrels is in the city. This gigantic combination will appear at the Academy of Music, on the 13th inst., fifty strong. They are travelling on a special train, and are altogether the biggest thing ever seen in the way of a hall show.

Among the luxuries of Ewing's Grove is a defunct goose. This item will not be new to anybody living within a mile of the place.

Wm. R. Tigar and Miss Gertie Probasco, John Mohr and wife and Mrs. George DeWald and friends, in all a party of ten, are at Rome City to take a weeks recreation.

The little daughter of F. C. Bennett, at 114 Fulton street, is lying ill with an attack of diphtheria.

Ed. L. Carlisle, of New Orleans, a young bachelor cotton broker, is in the city, a guest of Alderman Chittenden. He is en route to the west, having an interest in some lucrative Arizona silver mines which he is actively engaged in working up.

The telephone wires have driven all sparrows to the suburbs.

Mrs. Charles Lyman and daughter will leave for Angola to-morrow.

The wife of Engineer C. F. Smith, at 28 Banker street, is sick.

VOTE for water works to-morrow.

WATER works will improve the general health.

WATER works will reduce the rates of insurance.

WATER works will promote the general prosperity.

WATER works will afford the city fire protection.

WATER works does not mean high taxes or a big debt.

THE building of water works will make business lively.

If you vote against water works, you will always regret it.

WATER works will build up our manufacturing interests.

THE erection of water works will not increase the present tax levy.

If you vote for water works, you will always be proud of your vote.

WE need water works for our sewers, not sewers for our water works.

WATER works will cut down the cost of running the fire department.

WATER works will redeem Fort Wayne's reputation as an enterprising city.

WATER works will be built for less than $270,000. Mark the prediction.

TO-MORROW will decide whether Fort Wayne is to go backward or forward.

WATER works honestly constructed will eventually pay for themselves.

WATER works will be carried to-morrow. Let the majority be a rousing one.

THE erection of water works will give employment to a large number of laboring men and mechanics.

WITH a few honorable exceptions the opponents of water works are the old fogies who have never been anything but a curse to Fort Wayne. Vote them down to-morrow.

CHIEF of police SMITH is pursuing a course which will, in all probability, prevent his reelection next spring. He seems to be one of the men who can't stand prosperity, and whose heads are turned by office holding.

THE opponents of water works are stooping to some very disreputable means to defeat the improvement. For instance in Bloomington they are telling voters that they will have to pay water rents, in addition to tax, whether they use water or not, and that the tax will be assessed at so much per child, so much per pig, etc. A cause which requires such ridiculous lying as that must be a bad one indeed.

WATER works will not necessitate an extensive system of sewerage. We will need more sewers whether water works are built or not, and they will be constructed when they are demanded by the property owners, and not before.

THE SENTINEL takes great pride in the fact that it was the original advocate of water works among the newspapers of the city, and that it has never faltered in the good work. It is proud of its record. It has not been "converted" or turned the remarkable somersaults upon the question which have been executed by some of its "esteemed contemporaries."

It is safe to predict that if water works are built in this city, within one year after their completion a proposition to dispense with them would not receive 100 votes. It is also safe to predict that, after they are completed and in full running operation those who are now their most bitter opponents will be the strongest in their favor. These predictions are based upon the experience of other cities.

In Saturday's Journal Judge LUDLUM, who has been connected with that paper so long, prints his valedictory. The judge is a clever gentleman and a good newspaper man. We are glad to know that he will not leave the city, but will remain with us and fill an editorial position on the Gazette. The new proprietors of the Journal are Messrs. JAMES A. RUSSELL and A. C. WRIGHT, two capable and industrious young men, who make their bow in well-written and very modestly expressed salutation, in which they parenthetically declare for water works. Success to the Journal under its new management.

MR. R. MORGAN FRENCH is making himself especially active and industrious in his opposition to water works. This is not surprising. Mr. FRENCH has always been opposed to every improvement. He is a confirmed old fogey; a hopeless Rip Van Winkle. He looks upon public improvements as simply public outrages and taxation as the chiefest of curses. In all the years of his residence here he has never exhibited one particle of public spirit or enterprise. He has always been a bar, so far as possible, to the city's progress. Mr. FRENCH is keen enough, however, when his own private interests are to be advanced. Several years ago he was very active in getting the county commissioners to appropriate $10,000 for the repair of the canal, which supplies the power by which his factory is run. Mr. FRENCH, of course, has a perfect right to his own views on the water works question, but in view of his past record, what he says or does should have no influence upon voters.

STATE NEWS.

The residence of John Carnine, living seven miles from Madison, was burned on Friday morning. Nothing was saved.

Henry Barnum, aged twelve, fooled around the cars too much at Vincennes. He fell under and had his foot cut off last week.

John Lindley, brother of Representative T. J. Lindley, of Noble county, was drowned on Friday evening while bathing near Noblesville.

A gang of incendiary fiends are at work in Terre Haute. Last Friday night there were three fires, and the total loss was over $3,000.

Edward Kerr, an old man 60 years of age, who lived at Adams, Greene county, died Friday evening from being bitten by a rat about a month ago.

H. S. Blake, agent for the Singer sewing machine company at Brookville, has been arrested charged with embezzling $670 of the company's money.

A two-year-old daughter of John Antoine, of New Albany, got hold of a vial of laudanum last Friday, which it drank. Its life was saved with great difficulty.

Suddoth Mayfield, living near New Albany, cut down a big tree last Thursday and was attacked by the bees, who stung him so badly that his life is despaired of.

Wm. S. Reed and family of Richmond, were enjoying a picnic at Flecyclade, on Friday, when Mrs. Reid, falling down a steep cliff, broke her arm in three places against a tree at the base.

Elias Clapp, of Lagottee, Martin county, was killed, last Friday, by a sawlog which he and some others were trying to load on a wagon. He was completely crushed from his chest to his feet.

While Wm. Carice, of Carlisle, was moving a saw mill engine it was accidentally overturned, falling partially upon him in such a manner that a one-inch bolt was driven into his breast, penetrating his lungs. He cannot recover.

Nancy A. Gibbs, of Kokomo, is eighteen years of age. Philip Yakey has weathered the storms of sixty-seven winters, but that made no difference. Nancy says they had a high old time, and now Nancy finds herself in an interesting condition. She says it was all Philip's fault, but the jurice did not think so and Philip was acquitted of the charge of bastardy.

An Indianapolis Journal special says there is a breeze coming from Battle Ground which, when the facts are all brought to light, will reveal a lamentable state of affairs on the part of a couple of wayward people. A committee to investigate has been appointed, so dame rumor says. At this hour nothing definite can be learned, but there is so much talk about it that there seems to be grounds for the story.

NEWS NOTES.

Gathered from the Wires and the Mails.

It is hinted that ex-Secretary Fish will be asked to take the British mission.

Counterfeit $5 bills on the Globe National Bank, Boston, letter "C," and fast on the Dedham National Bank, Dedham, Mass., letter "B," are in circulation.

One Joe Houser, who has been awaiting trial on the charge of forgery, in the jail at Bryan, committed suicide Friday afternoon, by hanging himself in his cell.

Mrs. James Bell, of Dover, Me., on the 4th day of July gave birth to twins, making four children she had had within twenty months, the two former also being twins.

It is reported in Washington that Tilden recently said that, next to himself, Justice Field, of California, would be the best candidate of the democratic party in 1880.

Rev. John Hood, the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, at Hoboken, has asked to resign because he lacked eloquence and magnetism, and in consequence the Church did not prosper.

Martin Brady, a veteran of the war of 1812 and one of the oldest type-setters in New York, was buried Friday from his home in Brooklyn. Six of his comrades in the war of 1812 attended the funeral.

One of the Icelanders who arrived at Castle Garden, Monday, presented the baggage man, Martin Dolan, with an old copy of a Bible printed in 1747. It is a large book bound in dog-skin, and is in the Danish language.

The president and cabinet are distinctly opposed to the Panama canal plan of De Lesseps. Their objection is that it would prevent the United States from assuming control over the canal, should it become necessary.

Seventeen Chinamen, diseased with leprosy, were shipped back to Hong Kong recently from San Francisco. Now the San Francisco Call says that five more have been discovered, and wishes to know whether some of the eastern hospitals will not volunteer to take care of them, since this part of the country is so full of unrestricted Chinese immigration.

A special to the Cleveland Leader, from Youngstown, says the coal miners employed by the Churchill coal company and the Kline Coal Company, to the number of about 600, struck Saturday morning for an advance of ten cents a ton. The miners all over the valley were holding meetings Saturday, and will probably strike. There is much excitement in consequence.

Rev. Newman Hall, the eminent English divine, has renewed his suit in the court of probate and divorce for a separation from his wife. He instituted a similar suit some years ago, which was decided against him. Since then he and his wife have not lived together. He now renews the suit, having obtained, as he alleges, information that will compel the court to grant his plea. The evidence which he has produced upon the hearing of the case thus far, an extremely repulsive and scandalous character, but the friends of the lady insist that this evidence is fictitious and that its falsity can be proved. Hall and his wife each accuse the other of adultery.

The trustees of Greenwood cemetery, New York, complain of a practice which is increasing among the heirs of the dead who are buried in choice lots in their grounds, and which they are trying to break up. They say that through the poverty or cupidity of those who inherit lots in the cemetery, the lots are sold, and the bodies of those buried in them are dug up and reburied in graves on the public lots. In this way the remains of whole families have been disturbed, when the expectation of those who purchased the lots in the first place was that their bodies would remain there unmolested until the day of resurrection. It is now proposed to render the sale of such lots impossible by the heirs-at-law, and it is claimed that under an old law lots may be declared inalienable, and the heirs-at-law be prohibited from selling their interest in the same, except to each other, by filing in the office of the cemetery a declaration to that effect. The traffic in lots by the descendants of those who were buried in them has been for greater than would be suspected, and where a sale is effected the bones of those buried in the lots are taken up and transferred to public lots; the tombstones are cleared away, and in some instances the new graves of the dead are allowed to go unmarked.

The simplest means are generally the safest and surest. Hence the great demand for Dr. Bull's Balm for Pains, for liver disease, dyspepsia, headache, etc. Price only 25 cents. At all drug stores.

BOGUS CERTIFICATES.

It is no vile drugged stuff pretending to be made of wonderful foreign roots, barks, etc., and puffed up by long bogus certificates of pretended miraculous cures, but a simple, pure, effective medicine, made of well known valuable remedies, that furnishes its own certificates by its cures. We refer to Hop Bitters, the best and purest of medicines. See "Truths" and "Proverbs" in another column.

CRIMES AND CASUALTIES.

Two Terrible Cases of Wife Poisoning.—Robbing the Mail.—Frighful Deaths of Two Women at Covington, Ky.—Italian Love and Jealousy at New York.—Miscellaneous.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 2.—The leader of a gang of counterfeiters attempted to assassinate James Overstall, the principal witness against him, by firing a shot-gun at him.

Whiteboro, Tex., Aug. 2.—During a thunder storm lightning struck the residence of John W. Orsack, killing two children, one a son of Mrs. Hodges and another of F. Graham.

Turner's Mills, Mass., Aug. 3.—One of the rotary boilers in the Montague paper company's mill exploded, Saturday evening, killing one man—Daniel Leary—and slightly wounding two others.

Justice Field expresses surprise that Mr. Tilden holds him to be the second available man for the presidency. He declines to talk. His friends say he will make a good candidate, but has no chance.

Detroit, Aug. 2.—United States government detectives to-day arrested Jas. W. Walsh, for seven years letter carrier in this city, on a charge of robbing the mails. Walsh made a full confession in writing acknowledging that he made a practice of opening registered letters, etc., for the past two years.

Brooklyn, Aug. 2.—The committee appointed by the grand jury, speaking of Raymond street, say they were amazed to find human beings packed like so many sardines, many of the cells containing four or five persons, the cell itself being only about six by nine feet and poorly ventilated. They described the jail as a scene of misery and entirely discreditable to Christian people.

Galveston, Aug. 3.—A News special from Arlington says: Deputy United States Marshal George A. White and party with a prisoner, Tom Alford, while en route to the fort, were attacked by three of the Alford brothers. In the ensuing skirmish Marshal White was shot in the groin, perhaps fatally. Two of the Alford brothers were wounded but released the prisoner and escaped.

Watertown, N. Y., Aug. 3.—The steam yacht Farrington, which sunk the Josephine, at Clayton, Thursday, last night, near Thousand Island Park. Both yachts were loaded with passengers. The Flora was beached to prevent sinking. The licensees of Cats, Woolidge, of the Farrington, Capt. Brush and Engineer Radway, of the Flora, have been revoked by government inspectors.

Cincinnati, Aug. 2.—At a late hour last night, Mrs. M. of John Howe, residing in Covington, Ky., went into the privy with a servant and the floor gave way precipitating both into the vault. Mr. Howe, hearing their screams, ran to the rescue and in the excitement jumped into the vault. The three were finally rescued, but Mrs. Howe and the servant were badly injured. Mr. Howe is a prominent Cincinnati merchant, connected with the Carrollton Woolen Mills.

Clinton, La., Aug. 2.—Charles Emmerick, a carriage painter, and John McGlenn, a teamster, were drowned by the upsetting of a skiff in the river opposite here, near midnight. Arthur Brawley escaped by swimming.

J. S. Taylor, an employee of the Riverside Mill, was arrested last night on a charge of murdering his wife. He instituted a similar suit some years ago, which was decided against him. Since then he and his wife have not lived together. He now renews the suit, having obtained, as he alleges, information that will compel the court to grant his plea. The evidence which he has produced upon the hearing of the case thus far, an extremely repulsive and scandalous character, but the friends of the lady insist that this evidence is fictitious and that its falsity can be proved. Hall and his wife each accuse the other of adultery.

New York, Aug. 2.—Edonardo Zola, aged twenty-eight, son of Gen. Tommaso Zola, and nephew of Col. Nicola Zola, both of the Italian army, and Adeline Ochetti, daughter of an Italian gentleman, ran away from Turin to New York, five years ago, to marry to their parents' consent. The girl had Zola arrested yesterday on a charge of threatening her life in a fit of jealousy. In court he begged her to marry him, but she seemed afraid. The judge advised Zola to win back the girl by kindness, and gave him an opportunity by releasing him from custody. The couple have been living for months in three rooms here. Zola gets eighty thousand francs when he reaches the age of thirty.

Dr. Joseph P. Thompson, of Berlin, a well-known American clergyman, is dangerously ill in London.

A dispatch from Calcutta states that the Madras government is taking active measures to suppress the rebellion.

At Nancy, France, on the 3d, an enormous crowd was present at the unveiling of the statue of ex-President Thiers.

An emigration society has been organized at Sheffield, Eng., for the purpose of aiding workmen to obtain a livelihood in the western states of America.

In France, the shares in De Lesseps' Panama Canal scheme are at a discount of two francs. There is not likely to be any demand for them in England.

The emperor of Austria has accepted the resignation of Count Zichy, one of the Hungarian secretaries of state, accused of corruption in connection with the government decorations.

In consequence of the threatening movements of the Turks, a large number of new rifles have been distributed among the Greek troops, and six new batteries of artillery have been completely equipped.

In view of the success of the socialists in Breslau, the German government is considering the practicability of making the anti-socialist law more rigorous. Leaders of the liberals are discussing a programme to unite the various sections.

Gen. Grant's reception at Tokio was unprecedented in Japanese history. In addition to government demonstrations the citizens have given lavish entertainments on a lavish scale. Every day and night fresh novelties are offered for his diversion. At an audience before the emperor on July 4th his majesty happily alluded to the coincidence of date. The sole obstacle to harmony is caused by the demeanor of the English officials, who persistently keep aloof from Grant, and decline to give salutes or recognition. It is not clearly understood whether this is in consequence of orders from home or otherwise. There is much comment on their action, and it is distinctly known that Grant is keenly sensitive to the slight. Grant visits the shrine of Mikko, and afterwards sails to Yezo. He starts for America in the last week of August.

HIS LAST TRIP.

A Sensational Suicide on Saturday Evening.

A Street Car Driver Shoots Himself on His Car.

Various Reasons Suggested For the Rash Act.

Saturday evening at a few minutes past 7 o'clock a report became current that some one had shot himself on a street car on Hamilton street. A very few minutes verified the report, and it was soon known that the unfortunate victim was Gus Raquet, a driver in the employ of the Citizens' Street Railway Company, driving car No. 5, who committed suicide by shooting himself in the left breast, directly over the heart. The deed was committed on Hamilton street, about where a continuation of Barr street would intersect it. He was brought up torn and taken to Nill's drug store, where medical aid was at hand, but the wound was a fatal one, and about thirty minutes after the shooting took place Gus Raquet had breathed his last. Further investigation showed that he had left the terminus of his route on Hanna street on time, or at six minutes before 7 o'clock. Patrolmen John O'Connell and Bernard Rotke took the car at the end of the line and both witnessed the shooting, as did John Maddox. From them the reporter learned that Gus, as he was commonly known, was in unusually good spirits, and joked and compared time at the leaving of the car. They did not notice anything in his manner that would lead them to suppose that he contemplated which soon followed, neither did he show any indications of being under the influence of liquor. When about opposite Barr street on Hamilton, Gus with his right hand drew his revolver from his inside coat pocket and giving it a slight flourish said, "Well, down she goes!" pointed the revolver at his left breast, fired and throwing the weapon from him as he fell, dropped back and down and behind his stool crosswise on the platform of the car.

THE BLOODY ACT

The whole transpired so quickly that O'Connell, who was reading the SENTINEL, and Rotke who was listening at the time, could hardly realize what had happened. O'Connell however, sprang to the front of the car and stopped it, and found the body lying as above described, with the blood running from a wound in the left breast. O'Connell went back to where the shot was fired and found the pistol lying on the track. The pistol which was a seven shooter, carrying a 22-100 cartridge, he placed in his pocket and went back to the car. He drove the car to Calhoun street, where O'Connell left the car in charge of Rotke and Maddox while he went to notify Mr. Graumiller, superintendent of the street railway company, who came with him at once and took charge of the car and driver's belt. The car was driven up Calhoun street to Nill's drugstore, where the body was removed and a few minutes afterwards Raquet

BREATHED HIS LAST.

The wound was probed and it was found that the ball took a downward course, missing the heart, but severing an artery, from which death ensued by internal hemorrhage. The coroner was notified at once who, after searching the body, ordered it to be taken care of by the relatives and that the inquest would be held on Sunday. While the search was in progress Mrs. Raquet entered the room weeping bitterly. Seeing Wm. Hahn, her brother-in-law, standing near the body, she cried fiercely, "You're to blame for this, Bill! It's all your fault!"

What significance that expression had can not be learned, as she since says she don't know what she did say in her excitement. The manifestations of grief exhibited by his wife, and sisters, as well as his father Christian Raquet, the wellknown gunsmith, were pitiful to behold. The deceased was twenty-seven years of age, and had been married about five years. He had two children, aged respectively two and four years. He had been driving for the street car company about two and a half years, and had been discharged some time ago for drinking too much liquor, but was soon afterwards reinstated in his old position.

Some ugly rumors being afloat respecting the

CONJUGAL RELATIONS

between the deceased and his wife, a SENTINEL reporter called upon the lady in question and found her very much broken down by the sudden blow. She stated that they had always lived happily together and had never had any trouble with each other, although Gus had had some trouble a while ago and had some lately. She said that he came home to supper on Saturday evening and acted unusually cheerful, dancing about the floor with the baby and singing. She knew that he was under the influence of liquor, and told him so, saying, "Gus, you want to go on until it goes like it did before," meaning when he got discharged. He said no, he wasn't drunk. His wife then said, "Gus, unless you want to kill me you must quit drinking." He replied, "No, Mary, I don't want to kill you." He several times put his hand into his hip pocket where his revolver was during this conversation. She said that he was consumptive and he knew it, and this sometimes disheartened him so that he drank to excess. She always reprimanded him when she knew that he had been drinking, and told him once that she wouldn't live with him unless he quit it, but they never had any quarrel between themselves, He took his revolver with him

every chamber was full. When the revolver was found two chambers were empty. The question now arises "what became of the other charges?" The deceased was well liked by all who knew him. He was at times of a melancholy disposition and thought that he would die with consumption this fall, having been heard to say he guessed he would go with the leaves in the fall. When these spells came upon him he would take to his cups and had had several crossfires with his brother-in-law on the subject, which Mrs. Raquet says was the first thing in her mind when she saw the body and gave rise to the expression she made in the drug store. It was doubtless during one of these fits of despondency which he could not shake off, that the deed was committed. After trying in vain by drink, jocularly, etc., to throw off the depression, and feeling certain, perhaps that he was going to die in the fall, by his own hand he hurried his soul into the presence of its Maker.

Coroner Gaffney held an inquest, at which the testimony of the three men who were on the car at the time of the suicide, was taken. It corroborated the facts as above stated, and a verdict was rendered accordingly. It appears from the evidence that when the deceased pulled his revolver, he said, "Here I go, gentle men!" and that the only words uttered by him after the shooting were, "I have done it!"

The funeral of Raquet took place this afternoon from the late residence on West Main street. Rev. Krieter of Salem Church officiating. The body was interred in Lindenwood.

A CARD.

To the Editor of the SENTINEL: The Gazette, in its issue of this morning, states that I accused my brother-in-law, Mr. Wm. Hahn, of being the cause of my husband's untimely end. If I made a remark of that nature I did not know what I was saying, as my late husband and Mr. Hahn have always been the best of friends.

BUMMERS AND BRUISERS.

A Choice Collection Before the Mayor.

How They Happened to Be Taken In.

"The morning sun looked down and saw not one," but saw about one dozen. They weren't Barbara Frichie's flags, either, but a parcel of dilapidated roosters who came to see his honor on matters of importance. By the way, there was no sun, but they were there just the same. The mayor sat on his throne, and Henry Colerick rubbed his hands in childish glee as the record showed a proximity to a fat take.

Wm. Langdon was the first gentleman on the roll. "Step this way, Bill," said the marshal. Bill stepped. "William, you are charged with being drunk, now why are things thus?"

"Well, you see —"

"Yes, but I don't. Were you drunk or not?"

"Yes."

Mayor — "$5.00."

Marshal — "Sit over there, 'Frank Roofs'."

Frank had a trotter—one of "them horses" that could go less than a mile in three minutes. There is nothing criminal in that, but when a fellow lets a horse of that kind go and he comes down the street so fast that you can't see him until about a half an hour after he is past, that's what raises the gall in a mayor's liver. The mayor explained that while there was no law to prevent a man from driving at the rate of 100 miles in thirty seconds; yet there was a passage that said that he would be taxed $3 for the use of the street.

Joe Heckley marched forward in answer to the call, and stated that he expected that he was drunk, but was never that way before. The mayor told him that it was his solemn duty to get drunk every Wednesday and Saturday night unless prevented by sickness or a ruptured pocket-book, and, as according to his own statement he had neglected that duty he would fine him $1.

Mike Hykenryder disturbed the peace of mind of Henry Boerman at the "Globe." He invited Henry to chaw his car, and prayed for a single chance to maul Henry. Henry ordered him out and Mike went. Henry came to the door and laid his hand on his hip pocket and Mike thought he was going to shoot him with his "pop," and Mike tried to shoot him with a four gallon beer keg. Henry grabbed the telephone and told it that this thing wouldn't work. So Doyle came along and took Mike in. After being in, Mike declared himself and said he wouldn't stay. He changed his mind, however, and stayed. The mayor said: "Mike, this racket will cost you three and five are eight dollars."

"Lucas Herschfelder," chimed the marshal.

"Lucas Hers —," said Colerick, and broke his jaw, "what have you to say?"

"Well, I don't got plenty to say. I never was have any dings to do by such questions before already. I and got me arrested on such a points. I guess I was a little drunk."

Lucas was sick and feverish, and just came from the country, and he took a glass of beer and immediately got brave and proud, and said no policeman could arrest him. Joe Guschung thought differently, and took him down. It cost him $8.

Next came Mrs. Anthony Vizzari. Henry Freidlich said that Mrs. V. raised a fuss and a disorder, and kicked around in a manner that was awful to see. Among other things she committed an assault and battery on a keg of soap, and slashed the pudding out of an innocent wheelbarrow. Mrs. Hawing aided in the above fracas, and called Mrs. Miller a bigbellied scoundrel, etc., to the disturbance of the peace of the city. The mayor said he would fine her $10 for each one.

TIM'S TROUBLES.

A Seventh Ward Widower Collides with an Injured Husband.

Who Pastes Him with a Brick and Carves Him with a Knife.

Tim Kelly is a widower living at No. 20 Buchanan street, but nevertheless Tim likes to go out amongst them once in a while. A married lady in the southern part of the city has been the object upon whom Tim has lavished his affections for some time past; that is the husband says so, but Tim emphatically denies the soft impeachment. Yesterday evening he made a pleasant neighborly call upon the lady in question and shortly after they started out for a walk.

WALKED AND RAMBLED

until suddenly they stumbled upon the lady's husband.

Here was a dilemma. There was no retreat possible, so an advance was the only forlorn hope left. It carried, and the party walked along together until a saloon on Hanna street was reached, where they all entered and partook of several glasses of beer. Coming out, the rambler was resumed; but Tim perceived blood and mud and water gathering in the eye of the said husband. A saloon on Lafayette street was reached, where Tim made another proposition to have something to take. The husband accepted, but the lady said she "believed not." Again coming out, Tim said, "It was not right at all that the lady should have nothing to drink, and they would have a glass of soda," and accordingly they repaired to a drug store. After indulging in several they again emerged upon the street, but "a devil a bit could be seen of the man." And Tim thought it but right that he should escort the lady home, but was obliged to desert his charge before succeeding. On Hamilton street he saw the husband "laying for him." Tim cavorted around and took another route, but on reaching the corner of Calhoun and Elgin street, he was "STIRRED UP A BRICK," and immediately attacked by a man with a knife, who struck him twice, the knife penetrating his left arm both times, inflicting two ugly flesh wounds. The blows were evidently intended for his breast, and would have reached his heart, but for the interposition of his arm. Tim succeeded in making his escape without any further injury and proposes to steer clear of all married women in the future. His wounds were dressed and he is now "doing as well as could be expected."

FERY DRAUGHTS OF SODA,

INVESTIGATED.

Two Peelers Up Before the Police Committee.

The Evidence as to a Singular Midnight Raid.

The police committee met on Saturday evening to investigate charges against Policemen Humbrecht and Roelle. The charge is that last Friday morning, between 2 and 3 o'clock, the house of Mrs. Annie Kincaid, a very respectable lady living at No. 204 West Jefferson street was visited by those officers, who were ostensibly looking for Jim Clark. Roelle knocked at the door and asked for Clark. Mrs. K. said Clark was not there. Roelle seemed to doubt her word and she gave him permission to search the house, which he did and left satisfied.

The above is the substance of Mrs. Kincaid's statement before the committee.

Policeman Roelle said he was looking for Clark Thursday night. He had been told that Clark was a night visitor at Mrs. K.'s, and he went there after him. Had also been told by Geo. Humbrecht and others that Mrs. Kincaid's house needed watching.

Geo. Humbrecht said Roelle told him that Mrs. Kincaid's house needed watching, as something wrong was going on there. He and Roelle went there Friday night after Clark.

Both Humbrecht and Roelle testified that they knew nothing against Mrs. Kincaid, and never saw her until the night in question.

Policeman Trautman testified that he saw Clark go to Mrs. Kincaid's house very late on election night and knock. He told Clark it was too late for that, but Clark said it was all right as she knew him.

James Clark testified that Mrs. Kincaid was a friend of his mother's; nursed her when sick, and tried hard to induce him to stop drinking. He (Clark) called there election night for the purpose of showing her that he was sober.

Chief Smith testified to Mrs. Kincaid's good character, and also stated that he had not given the officers any instructions to visit Mrs. K.'s house that night.

The committee postponed further investigation until 2 o'clock this afternoon, but expressed themselves very strongly to the effect that the policemen spend entirely too much of their time watching private houses, and interfering with matters outside of their jurisdiction, and not enough to looking after murderers, thieves and other professional criminals.

The evidence is to be reduced to writing and referred to the mayor. The "peelers" will probably escape with a light reprimand.

The Harvest Home picnic and festival to be held at Rome City Thursday of this week, August 7th, will be an important event in the history of that popular resort. The arrangements have been completed on an extensive plan. The Knights Templar Band, of Muncie, will be in attendance, and Reinecke's Orchestra will furnish music for the day. An attractive programme in the way of song, declamation and addresses, will also have a place. Excursion trains will run from Winchester, Fort Wayne, Muncie and Logansport.

THE ELECTION.

made a raid upon a lot of tramps congregated at the ice houses at Nebraska this morning, but did not succeed in gobbling up any of them.

Wm. Wirth, who claims to hail from Chicago, met a SENTINEL reporter to-day, and asserted that he had been beaten out of $400 at Hongland, by a sport of that village, named L. J. Riley, who represents himself as a farmer. Wirth now wishes he had not undertaken to play poker with the aforesaid Riley.

The secretary reported to the agricultural board on Saturday that he had made the most complete and satisfactory arrangements with all the railroads to run excursion trains during the fair, the trains arriving at from 10 to 10.40 in the morning and leaving from 5 to 6 o'clock in the evening. This will give visitors a fine opportunity to spend an hour or two in the city to transact business and all the time they wish at the fair grounds, returning home the same day if they choose.

The two young lads, Steimen and Parnin, who went away with the tramps, as related in Saturday's SENTINEL, have returned home sadder and wiser boys. They were initiated in the tramp fraternity by having their arms tattooed, and had two days' lively experience, having been put off a train and walked a long distance on short rations. They are now fully satisfied to remain in the city, being entirely convinced that the life of a tramp is not what it is cracked up to be by the writers of yellow "kivered" novels.

Water Works Meeting.

The voters of the first ward that are favorable to the water works project will meet at City Hall, Monday evening, August 4th, at 8 p. m., to make final arrangements for carrying the ward by a big majority. Friends of the scheme from other wards are earnestly urged to be present. Good speakers will be on hand, and by their arguments will convince those in doubt to vote "for."

A Card to the Public.

On my arrival here, in order to secure without delay the public confidence, I found it necessary to publish statements from well known, reliable men of Indianapolis, Evansville, Terre Haute, Lafayette and other places—gentlemen who had been most successfully treated by me. As their names were well known in Fort Wayne it served my purpose. I was at once consulted by the very best citizens, who placed themselves under my treatment. Their names by special permission have been published, and they can be referred to as to the satisfaction given them by my treatment. Feeling assured that my reputation here is now fully established, and that there is no further necessity for expensive advertising, I withdraw the columns. I desire simply to say to all who need my treatment, especially in Catarrh, Throat, Lung and Chest Diseases, Asthma and Deafness, etc., that they can still be treated by me. Having reduced expenses, my fees from today will be within the reach of all who want my medical services in cases specially treated by me with the utmost success, and they should call at once.

HIS LAST TRIP.

A Sensational Suicide on Saturday Evening.

A Street Car Driver Shoots Himself on His Car.

Various Reasons Suggested For the Rash Act.

Saturday evening at a few minutes past 7 o'clock a report became current that some one had shot himself on a street car on Hamilton street. A very few minutes verified the report, and it was soon known that the unfortunate victim was Gus Raquet, a driver in the employ of the Citizens' Street Railway Company, driving car No. 5, who committed suicide by shooting himself in the left breast, directly over the heart. The deed was committed on Hamilton street, about where a continuation of Barr street would intersect it. He was brought up town and taken to Nill's drug store, where medical aid was at hand, but the wound was a fatal one, and about thirty minutes after the shooting took place Gus Raquet had breathed his last. The whole transpired so quickly that O'Connell, who was reading the SENTINEL, and Rothe who was listening at the time, could hardly realize what had happened. O'Connell however, sprang to the front of the car and stopped it, and found the body lying as above described, with the blood running from a wound in the left breast. O'Connell went back to where the shot was fired and found the pistol lying on the track. The pistol which was a seven shooter, carrying a 22-100 cartridge, he placed in his pocket and went back to the car. He then drove the car to Calhoun street, when O'Connell left the car in charge of Rothe and Maddox while he went to notify Mr. Graffmiller, superintendent of the street railway company, who came with him at once and took charge of the car and driver's belt. The car was driven up Calhoun street to Nill's drug store, where the body was removed and a few minutes afterwards Raquet

If I made a remark of that nature I did not know what I was saying, as my late husband and Mr. Hahn have always been the best of friends.

MARY RAQUET.

BUMMERS AND BRUISERS.

A Choice Collection Before the Mayor.

How They Happened to Be Taken In.

"The morning sun looked down and saw not one," but saw about one dozen. They weren't Barbara Frichtie's flags, either, but a parcel of dilapidated rosters who came to see his honor on matters of importance. By the way, there was no sun, but they were there just the same. The mayor sat on his throne, and Henry Colerick rubbed his hands in childish glee as the record showed a proximity to a fat take.

Wm. Langdon was the first gentleman on the roll. "Stey this way, Bill," said the marshal. Bill stepped. "William, you are charged with being drunk, now why are things thus?"

"Well, you see —"

"Yes, but I don't. Were you drunk or not?"

"Yes."

Mayor—"$5.00."

Marshal—"Sit over there, 'Frank Raquet'."

Frank had a trotter—one of "them horses" that could go less than a mile in three minutes. There is nothing criminal in that, but when a fellow lets a horse of that kind go and he comes down the street so fast that you can't see him until about a half an hour after he is past, that's what raises the gall in a fellow's liver. The mayor explained that while there was no law to prevent a man from driving at the rate of 100 miles in thirty seconds; yet there was a passage that said that he would be taxed $3 for the use of the street.

Joe Heckley marched forward in answer to the call, and stated that he never that way before. The mayor told him that it was his solemn duty to get drunk every Wednesday and Saturday night unless prevented by sickness or a ruptured pocket-book, and as according to his own statement he had neglected that duty he would fine him $1.

Mike Hykenryder disturbed the peace of mind of Henry Beerman at the "Globe." He invited Henry to chase his car and pay for a single chance to mail Henry. Henry ordered him out and Mike went. Henry came to the door and laid his hand on his hip pocket and Mike thought he was going to shoot him with his "pop," and Mike tried to shoot him with a four gallon beer keg. Henry grabbed the telephone and told it that this thing wouldn't work. So Doyle came along and took Mike in. After being in, Mike declared himself and said he wouldn't stay. He changed his mind, however, and stayed. The mayor said: "Mike, this racket will cost you three and five are eight dollars."

"Lucas Herschfelder," chimed the marshal.

"Lucas Hers—" said Colerick, and broke his jaw, "what have you to say?"

"Well, I don't got blenty to say. I never have any dings to do by such questions before already. I and got me arrested on such a points. I guess I was a little drunk."

Lucas was sick and feverish, and just came from the country, and he took a glass of beer and immediately got brave and proud, and said no police could arrest him. Joe Guesching thought differently, and took him down. It cost him $8.

Next came Mrs. Anthony Vizzard. Henry Freidlich said that Mrs. V. raised a fuss and a disorder, and kicked around in a manner that was awful to see. Among other things she committed an assault and battery on a keg of soap, and slashed the pudding out of an innocent wheelbarrow. Mrs. Hawley aided in the above fracas, and called Mrs. Miller a big belled soapkrut, etc., to the disturbance of the peace of the city. The mayor said $5 would be the fine in each case.

TIM'S TROUBLES.

A Seventh Ward Widower Collides with an Injured Husband.

Who Pastes Him with a Brick and Carves Him with a Knife.

Tim Kelly is a widower living at No. 20 Buchanan street, but nevertheless Tim likes to go out amongst them once in a while. A married lady in the southern part of the city has been the object upon whom Tim has lavished his affections for some time past; that is the husband says so, but Tim emphatically denies the soft impeachment. Yesterday evening he made a pleasant neighborly call upon the lady in question and shortly after they started out for a walk.

WALKED AND RAMBLED until suddenly they stumbled upon the lady's husband.

Here was a dilemma. There was no retreat possible, so an advance was the only forlorn hope left. It carried, and the party walked along together until a saloon on Hanna street was reached, where they all entered and partook of several glasses of beer. Coming out, the ramble was resumed, but Tim perceived blood and mud and water gathering in the eye of the said husband. A saloon on Lafayette street was reached, where Tim made another proposition to have something to take the husband accepted, but the lady said she "believed not." Again coming out, Tim said, "It was not right at all that the lady should have nothing to drink, and they would have a glass of soda," and accordingly they repaired to a drug store. After indulging in several they again emerged upon the street, but "a devil a bit could be seen of the man." And Tim thought it but right that he should escort the lady home, but was obliged to desert his charge before succeeding. On Hamilton street he saw the husband "laying for him." Tim cavorted around and took another route, but on reaching the corner of Calhoun and High street, he was "STRUCK WITH A BRICK," and immediately attacked by a man with a knife, who struck him twice, the knife penetrating his left arm both times, inflicting two ugly flesh wounds. The blows were evidently intended for his breast, and would have reached his heart, but for the interposition of his arm. Tim succeeded in making his escape without any further injury and proposes to steer clear of all married women in the future. His wounds were dressed and he is now "doing as well as could be expected."

FIERY DRAUGHTS OF SODA,

INVESTIGATED.

Two Peelers Up Before the Police Committee.

The Evidence as to a Singular Midnight Raid.

The police committee met on Saturday evening to investigate charges against Policemen Humbrecht and Roelle. The charge is that last Friday morning, between 2 and 3 o'clock, the house of Mrs. Annie Kincaid, a very respectable lady living at No. 204 West Jefferson street was visited by those officers, who were ostensibly looking for Jim Clark. Roelle knocked at the door and asked Mrs. K. if she knew Clark. Mrs. K. said Clark was not there. Roelle seemed to doubt her word and she gave him permission to search the house, which he did and left satisfied.

The above is the substance of Mrs. Kincaid's statement before the committee.

Policeman Roelle said he was looking for Clark Thursday night. He had been told that Clark was a night visitor at Mrs. K.'s, and he went there to catch him. Had also been told by Geo. Humbrecht and others that Mrs. Kincaid's house needed watching.

Geo. Humbrecht said Roelle told him that Mrs. Kincaid's house needed watching, as something wrong was going on there. He and Roelle went there Friday night after Clark.

Both Humbrecht and Roelle testified that they knew nothing against Mrs. Kincaid, and never saw her until the night in question.

Policeman Trautman testified that he saw Clark go to Mrs. Kincaid's house very late on election night and knock. He told Clark it was too late for that, but Clark said it was all right as she knew him.

James Clark testified that Mrs. Kincaid was a friend of his mother's; nursed her when sick, and tried hard to induce him to stop drinking. He (Clark) called there election night for the purpose of showing her that he was sober.

Chief Smith testified to Mrs. Kincaid a good character, and also stated that he had not given the officers any instructions to visit Mrs. K.'s house that night.

The committee postponed further investigation until 2 o'clock this afternoon, but expressed themselves very strongly to the effect that the policemen spend entirely too much of their time watching private houses, and interfering with matters outside of their jurisdiction, and not enough to looking after murderers, thieves and other professional criminals.

The evidence is to be reduced to writing and referred to the mayor. The "peelers" will probably escape with a light reprimand.

The Harvest Home picnic and festival to be held at Rome City Thursday of this week, August 7th, will be an important event in the history of that popular resort. The arrangements have been completed on an extensive plan. The Knights Templars' Band, of Muncie, will be in attendance, and Reinecke's Orchestra will furnish music for the day. An attractive programme in the way of song, declamation and addresses, will also have a place. Excursion trains will run from Winchester, Fort Wayne, Muncie and Logansport.

THE ELECTION.

Go to the Polls To-morrow and Vote for Water Works.

Locations of Polling Places and Boundaries of the Wards.

The special water works election will be held to-morrow. The polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 6 p. m. The judges and inspectors will be the same as at the spring election. The ballots will read, "For Water Works," and "Against Water Works."

Six city prisoners were discharged from the jail to-day.

C. N. Clark, of the Kansas Pacific Railroad is in the city.

Maurice Cody has been on the sick list for several days past.

The Decatur Democrat calls Fort Wayne the "Telephone City."

Moses Kratsch has returned from an extended tour to Logansport.

Charley McClain, of the auditor's office, was at Wabash yesterday.

Miss Cora Phelps, of Elmira, N. Y., is visiting friends in this county.

Ed. McElfatrick has been down to Decatur telling them telephone stories.

The sale of privileges for the Northern Indiana Fair is set for the 30th inst.

Mrs. J. Wessel, sr., and daughter-in-law returned from Chicago last Saturday.

Mace Long and Jerry Hillegass are registered at the Cushman House, Petoskey.

There will be a meeting of the Young Men's Sodality at Library Hall to-night.

J. M. Coombs and sister, Miss Minnie Coombs, returned from the east Saturday night.

Rev. Austin Theep, of Maysville, was arrested yesterday for an assault and battery on Eliza Newland.

Edward Ely and wife, who have been at Chester, Ill., for the past two years have returned to this city.

Misses Deininger, Schwieters and Gocke have been visiting Miss Mary Bosse, at Decatur, during the past few days.

Tickets for the grand stand for the Regatta, are on sale at Woodworth's, Foote's, Mayer House and the Occidental.

No. 225, on Calhoun street, has been moved back about twenty-five feet, and a handsome brick addition is being erected in front.

F. Flegner returned from New York, on Saturday night. The SENTINEL wishes and bespeaks for him success in his new department.

It seems to be the aim of the managers of the fair to have four full and equally interesting days of the fair. It will be a big thing, if it can be accomplished.

Stephanie Baker and sister

made a raid upon a lot of tramps congregated at the ice houses at Nebraska this morning, but did not succeed in gobbling up any of them.

Wm. Wirsh, who claims to hail from Chicago, met a SENTINEL reporter to-day, and asserted that he had been beaten out of $400 at Hoagland, by a sport of that village, named I. J. Riley, who represents himself as a farmer. Wirsh now wishes he had not undertaken to play poker with the aforesaid Riley.

The secretary reported to the agricultural board on Saturday that he had made the most complete and satisfactory arrangements with all the railroads to run excursion trains during the fair, the trains arriving at from 10 to 10.40 in the morning and leaving from 5 to 6 o'clock in the evening. This will give visitors a fine opportunity to spend an hour or two in the city to transact business and all the time they wish at the fair grounds, returning home the same day if they choose.

The two young lads, Stemen and Parnin, who went away with the tramps, as related in Saturday's SENTINEL, have returned home sadder and wiser boys. They were initiated in the tramp fraternity by having their arms tattooed, and had two days' lively experience, having been put off a train and walked a long distance on short rations. They are now fully satisfied to remain in the city, being entirely convinced that the life of a tramp is not what it is cracked up to be by the writers of yellow "kivered" novels.

Water Works Meeting.

The voters of the first ward that are favorable to the water works project will meet at City Hall, Monday evening, August 4th, at 8 p. m., to make final arrangements for carrying the ward by a big majority. Friends of the scheme from other wards are earnestly urged to be present. Good speakers will be on hand, and by their arguments will convince those in doubt to vote "for."

F. BEACH,
WM. MATSCH,
JAMES HARPER,
Committee First Ward.

CITY FEATURES.

A Card to the Public.

On my arrival here, in order to secure without delay the public confidence, I found it necessary to publish statements from well known, reliable men of Indianapolis, Evansville, Terre Haute, Lafayette and other places—gentlemen who had been most successfully treated by me. As their names were well known in Fort Wayne it served my purpose. I was at once consulted by the very best citizens, who placed themselves under my treatment. Their names by special permission have been published, and they can be referred to as to the satisfaction given them by my reputation. Feeling assured that my reputation here is now fully established, and that there is no further necessity for expensive advertising, I withdraw the columns. I desire simply to say to all who need my treatment, especially in Catarrh, Throat, Lung and Chest Diseases, Asthma and Deafness, etc., that they can still be treated by me. Having reduced expenses, my fees are now within the reach of all who want my medical services in cases specially treated by me with the utmost success, and they should call at once.
